

The Physics Resource Room

The Resource Room is a place you can go to to get help on the homework or concepts from graduate students. It is located in the Margaret King Library building (diagonally across from the rear door to CP) in Rooms 301I and 301J. While is not staffed 24/7 there are graduate students there for a large part of the working day.