

Announcement 1

Dear Students, welcome to PHY231. My name is Ganpathy Murthy and I will be your instructor. Very shortly I will post the syllabus and schedule for this course on this page, as well as on my page (<http://www.pa.uky.edu/~murthy/courses/phy231f12/>).

However, a couple of points of advance information might be useful. I am pretty old-fashioned and I will be using the whiteboards in CP155. Also, since there are only about 60 of you (Sections 13 and 14), I will not use clickers. So PLEASE DO NOT BUY CLICKERS SPECIFICALLY FOR THIS CLASS. I will also be using WebAssign for the homework, but will make the recitation quizzes and exams myself. Finally, in order to keep you engaged and to see whether what I say makes sense to you, I will occasionally ask questions of random students in the class. You may find it a bit startling and disconcerting initially, but hopefully you will get used to it soon.

My room is CP295, and my email is murthy@pa.uky.edu. Please come by to see me or send me an email if you have any questions. See you all next week.

Best, Ganpathy Murthy.
